the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the services and support they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To improve the health and well-being of older people.
- To improve the social care services available to older people.
- To improve the housing and transport services available to older people.
- To improve the safety and security of older people.

Involvement 3

Whether it was classes, clubs or sports, students were always involved. Learning, participating, achieving, they met goals from Spell Bowl victories to CC personal bests.

Teachers helped students, and students also helped teachers as they learned something new together. "The new Indiana Standards and the required PPL writings have forced some changes in lesson plans," said Mrs. McKinney.

Students also saw exciting differences in Career Opportunities in the three hour seminar on December 18 and lunch programs.

"I'm only involved in two clubs, but I love Sunshine and Yearbook.

When the yearbook came out, and I saw all the pages that I had done. I liked to show off to my friends," said Junior Cheryl Mathews. No matter how big or small, involvement made school special.

Talent was always roaming the hallways. From singing to drawing, students never stopped trying.

"I took a drawing class because I like to draw. Sometimes, if I try hard and take my time, my drawings come out looking nice. I took much pride in it because they're my own creation." commented Sophomore Rocio Ruvalcaba.

An ability to draw, sing or dance was also seen in various drama productions including Alice in Wonderland and Little Shop of Horrors.

Talent was also seen in the Marching Bands' performance at the Little Jasper Festival where they took first place.

All across the curriculum, awards were won and students reached deep to find one more ounce of courage or strength in order to achieve to the best of their potential. Nothing less was expected.

turn up the velocity occupations

On Wednesday, Dec. 4, Health Occupations class took a field trip to Loyola Medical Hospital in Chicago.

The field trip inspired some students to think about future plans. Senior Tiffany Davis said, "I plan to go into the medical field someday. What I saw was interesting."

When asked why she took the course, senior Taylor Sculley answered, "I like Health Occupations class not only because it's interesting, but because we get hands on and not so much book work. It's very exciting and Mrs. Forehand makes everything fun."

Health Occupations class involved learning hands on (CPR-First Aid). They also took weekly field trips to Jasper County Hospital and Crestmark in Roselawn.

The service project was the collection of teddy bears and blankets for Dr. Quinn's homeless shelter in Arizona.

LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL

School spirit erupted throughout hallways during the week of September 16. The week held the promise of fun and excitement in the shape of a spirited Mardi Gras theme with a wacky saying of "Let the Good Times Roll!"

The week included crazy dress up days. "Homecoming week was great. What other week allowed people to wear all of the strange costumes in the back of their wardrobes that would otherwise be strange?" said Senior John Little. There were also exciting fourth hour activities such as bobbing for pickles and a human scavenger hunt.

A Homecoming parade which was held in DeMotte on Friday gave students one last opportunity to show just how crazy they all could get. First place float was won by the sophomores.

While enjoying the fun of spirit week, Freshmen Mark Nikolas and Alyssa Golly share a string of Mardi Gras beads.

Getting involved with the fourth hour activities, Seniors Jon Schurman and Jill Melton and Junior Calvin Hamstra play a game of musical chairs.

"It is really fun walking through the halls and seeing everyone's weird outfits."
"Heather Myers"

Participating in the fourth hour activity of bobbing for pickles, Sophomore Aleesha Wall pulls her head out of the pickle juice as Senior Kyleen Eden watches in amazement.

Anticipating the start of the parade, Juniors Megan Diaz, Veronica Nikolas, Kacie Woods, and Andy Klemp are ready and waiting on the float.

"I thought we had a very positive week. The cars were very tastefully decorated to promote spirit."
"Mr. Skrobol"

Waiting for the Homecoming parade to start, Sophomore Dyanna Hamstra takes a moment to look at the rest of the Homecoming floats.

POWDER PUFF

Sugar, Spice, and Everything nice...that's what girls are made of. When you tossed in a football, and a few flags, the recipe changed to Rough Tough Powder Puff. The night of September 19 was no exception. It was warm, humid, and the sky was just as electrified as the tension between the junior and senior girls. As the evening progressed, both Junior Coach Kaluf, and Senior Coach Stettett knew it would be a game to remember. Up until the last quarter, the Seniors were winning 7 to 0, on a touchdown made by Lindsey Singleton, and a one point kick by Amanda Martinez. Suddenly, the Juniors made a remarkable comeback when Tiana Jungels not only ran the ball in for a six point touchdown, but also added two points in a hand off conversion from Heather Zylstra in the final minutes of the 8-7 Junior victory! Reflecting on the Senior's loss Kristin King said, "Getting pumped up was a big deal to us all, the fans and the cheering weren't what pumped me up the most though, it was Mr. Stettett's Monkey Necklace."

Chased by the seniors, Junior Tiana Jungels makes scoring look easy as she sprints down the field to tie the score. Jungels went on to secure a victory with a two point conversion after running 30 yards for a touchdown.

As the whistle is blown, Junior Katie Nuss prepares herself for another chance to pull a flag from an unsuspecting Senior.

Stunned by the distance of Amanda Martinez's punt, Seniors Steph Bell and Elisa Schultz await the offensive team's return to the field.

PEP SESSION FRENZY

Krazy is the only word that can describe the Homecoming pep session. Seniors rocked the house with their lip sync performance to "Pout Some Sugar on Me."

"The pep session was a good way for freshmen to get involved. It was exciting and helped to give us some school spirit. I liked the lip syncs the best," said Freshman Emma Cunningham. Senior football players, Josh Croll and Kevin Mastovich pumped up the crowd with their intense talk about winning the game. Following their speeches, the gym went mad with screaming students as Principal Apple sped into the gym on his Harley and rescued the Cougar. After winning the spirit stick, Seniors spilled onto the floor. As the pep session came to a close, cheerleaders led the competition cheers and the "Cougar Fight Song".

Shocked to find the seniors winning the spirit stick, Juniors Nicole Granger, Lorrie Lowallen, Krystal Barton, and Anna Gatlin watch as the seniors grab the victory.

Focused on the spirit dance, Senior Lindsay Sopeich leads her class in a quest to prove their school spirit.

As Mr. Black announces the seniors as the winner of the spirit stick, Seniors Mitch VanKampen, John Stamper, and Matt Ketchum storm the gym floor.

"Each girl in the group had her own kind of style. We thought it would be a really good idea to put it all together."
Jamie Anderson

KEEPING THE SPIRIT

Letting the good times roll, Kougat spirit soared on September 20 as the anticipation of Homecoming settled in. Homecoming game was played against the Rensselaer Bombers, ending in a 6-51 upset. Through the despair of the game, Senior football player Josh Duggleby said, "Homecoming night resulted in a loss. It hurt, but all you can do is fight your way through it." Asst. Coach Prescott responded to the game in a positive manner, "I thought the team came out with intensity and ready to play Rensselaer. Our defense caused them to use several plays to score, and our offense responded by scoring a touchdown. When the game and score got out of hand, it didn't reflect the effort the players put forth." Homecoming court was also filled with anxiety as the crowd awaited the crowning of the Homecoming queen. Sarah Clark replied to the crowning, "I was shocked, and all I can remember doing was turning around and saying, 'What do I do?'."

Awaiting the results of an injured teammate, Senior Kevin Mestrovich kneels motionless.

Estated, Senior Sarah Clark receives the Homecoming crown from Principal Apple. Sarah was the first Queen ever not able to ride around the newly tarred track.

DIVERSITY

GOOD TIMES

On Mardi Gras day during Homecoming week, Seniors Adam Hall, Mitch VanKampen, Annie Huhn, and Jon Nannenga take part in the parade.

K variety took an important role in students lives. No one wanted to be like or look like the person sitting beside him/her in English class. Some dressed to be different, some did their hair in crazy styles, while others did random things to express their individuality.

Uniqueness was what made the day enjoyable. According to Jon Nannenga, "My favorite high school memory was the time Adam Hall and I sang Christmas carols the day before break. We sang 'The Christmas Blues' and awarded a prize to the person with the saddest tale of Yuletide." Differences were what gave us the distinctiveness everyone strove to achieve.

A YEAR TO REVEALED

After a three year slump, the class of 2003 swept the school by winning the spirit stick for the first time. "I knew we won the spirit stick before they announced us the winners, so I ran out onto the floor early. I felt stupid, but it was worth the laughs," said Allison Hamstra.

Being a senior wasn't just about spirit, it was about the struggles of Econ classes, passing ISTEP, and completing all of the credits for graduation.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

On July 1, 1971 the 26th amendment was passed allowing US citizens to vote at age 18. Some seniors took advantage of this right and voted on Tuesday November 5. "Voting is very important. We need to voice our opinions and take part in the government," said Jill Melton. This election marked the first time in 10 years that a political party, the Republicans, had control over both the presidency and congress.

WAR COUNTDOWN

As the threat of war with Iraq hovered over the United States, National Guard members from across the United States left home for active involvement in the service. By the end of January, over 70,000 American troops had been deployed to the Middle East, CNN ran daily countdown to Iraq banners and gas prices fluctuated with the stock market whose black days ran in the red. President Bush said, "I am tired of waiting. It is time for action."

EFFECTS OF SENIORITIS

After being accepted to the college of choice, getting signed up for the Armed services, or looking for job opportunities; many seniors wanted out of high school.

They wanted to venture out on their own to see the world they had been preparing for over the past four years. This common occurrence was known as senioritis. In John Stamper's words, "It's all about growing up. It's doing things you don't want to do. It's understanding that education is priceless. Nevertheless slacking off is easy, and I do it a lot." Symptoms of this included: sleeping in, being tardy for classes, not finishing homework, and having a decline in effort. Students suffering from this often were seen sitting in hallways at the warning minute bell, struggling to finish homework during their lunch, bottoming out on the speed bump in the student parking lot at 7:58 a.m., and racing to leave the parking lot at 3:16 p.m.

Some, however, were able to avoid this and continued to work hard throughout the seventh and eighth semesters of their high school career. Michele Lintner said, "I am one of those rare seniors who never wants to leave high school, so I'm still working as hard as I always have."

Jewel of the Nile

Excitement, nervousness, agitation, and happiness were some of the emotions felt on the evening before Prom. Taking place on May 3, the evening offered an Egyptian setting with an Egyptian feel. Prom excitement began with the Grand March and formal pictures at 4 p.m. Prom-goers were then off to the Potter County Expo Center where dinner was served. After dinner, the dancing began and offered some a chance to express themselves and "Walk like an Egyptian." "Although I went by myself, I had lots of fun dancing the night away with all my friends." Mayra Pena reflected. By the closing of the night, the successfulness of Prom could be seen on the faces of the 369 attendees. At midnight, clothes were changed and Post Prom began at Inman's in Valparaiso where students bowled, played laser tag, and enjoyed mini-golf, pool, or go-carts until 3 a.m.

Preparing for a group picture, Robert Gilmore, date, Aaron Mann, Brittany LaCrosse, Felicia LaCrosse, date, Ashley Rentschler, and Keith Pointer take a break from the dance and create memories.

Senior Awards Night

Senior Awards Night was held on Friday, June 6 at 7 p.m. in the high school gym. All of the graduating seniors, dressed in their cap and gowns, were required to attend. During the awards night several clubs gave awards to their outstanding senior members. "Winning awards in National Honor Society, Quill & Scroll, and Student Council was matvalous! I felt honored and proud to be recognized by my peers-it was a magnificent night!" commented Lori Cutlass. Many seniors also received scholarships from different colleges and community programs to offset college costs. A record number of students were recognized for earning a Core 40 or Academic Honors diplomas. Overall 61% of the graduates earned an advanced diploma. The class of 2003 also earned approximately $1 million in scholarships.

Posing for a picture, the 15 Super Seniors get excited as their dream of graduating becomes a reality.

During Senior Awards Night, Joshua Tillger and Joshua Croll accept awards for their achievements in art.

Standing on the stage for the multitude of photographers, co-salutatorians Anniisa Huhn, Candice Van Riessen, and Valedictorian Kyleen Eden smile for a picture.

"It was nice to recognize students for their accomplishments."
"Mary Weishaar"

"It was fun because it was not as formal as Graduation"
"Jonathan Plant"

"Senior Awards Night allowed everyone to see the vast array of awards to be won if you put your mind to it."
"Anniisa Huhn"

Entering the gym for Senior Awards Night, Kaci Etnire and Joshua Duggleby look at the crowd.

Cherishing her last few days in America, German foreign exchange student Edda Bellman gets caught up in the moments following awards night. Bellman was posing for her parents who flew in for the event.

Patiently waiting for the next award to be called, Amber Davis looks at the speaker behind the podium.

Graduation 2003

Sunday June 8 was the day the class of 2003 had been looking forward to all year, Graduation. For the seniors, graduating meant leaving behind all of their friends and moving on to bigger things. Many students took the opportunity to reflect on the many things that happened during their high school careers. The events for the day included moving speeches from Co-Salutatorians Anniisa Huhn and Candice VanRiessen, Valedictorian Kyleen Eden, and Class President Jonathan Nannenga accompanied by Adam Hall on guitar. After the speeches were done, the band had played, the choir had sung, and the diplomas were handed out, seniors moved their tassels and officially became members of the "real world." They exited the gym behind Principal Phillip Apple and retiring teacher Mrs. Bobbi Jeffries.

After a long four years, Jacqueline Van Kley takes the anticipated walk up the stage to receive her diploma from School Board President John Heerema.

Realizing that he finally has his diploma in this hand, Joshua Barcus grins over his accomplishments over the past four years.

Listening to the Concert choir sing their senior song, Tiffany Andrews-Armstrong and Eric Anderson reflect on the last four years.

After everyone received his/her diplomas, Mr. Apple and Mrs. Jeffries lead the class of 2003 to their new lives as KV alumni.

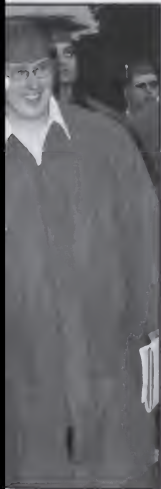

"It was worth the 5040 class periods that it took to get here...5040 long class periods."
"John Little"

"I'm glad that I've finally graduated...It took forever to get here."
"Max Crawford"

"It's over after so long. I can't believe I'm ready to go off on my own."
"Denise Martis"

On his walk out of the gym as a member of society, Harold Allis realizes he is no longer a student at KV.

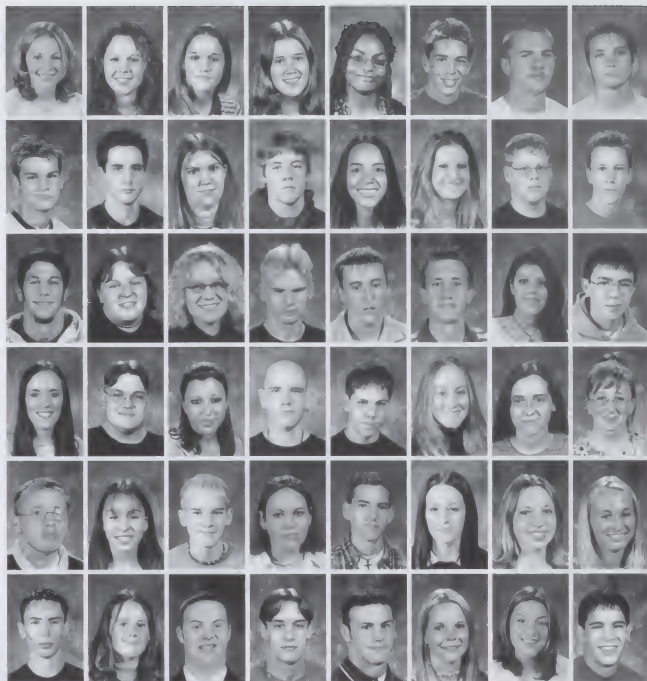

After receiving his diploma, Devin Paul claps in support of his fellow classmates as their names are called.

Patiently waiting for his cue to walk up the stage, Jacob Hodges listens for his name to be called by class sponsor Mrs. Slaby.

"The people that I value most are my friends and the people that I have met throughout the years. Friendships are the most important thing to keep. I know that without my friends, my life would not be the same as it is now. I would not have people to share my funniest experiences with."

-Junior Jennifer Taylor

"Choices. I value the ability to choose what I want, and the freedom to make those choices the most. From choosing who you want to spend the rest of your life with, to what colored shirt you're going to wear that morning, I value making the knowledgeable choice that I will not regret later. That is what I value. MY choice."

Cheering on the Junior Powderpuff players, Josh Wierzba, Jarvey Harris, and Shawn Kuiper form a pyramid to show off their class spirit. Wierzba, Harris and Kuiper wore handmade superfan shirts which portrayed their support for the Junior team who won the game with a score of 8-7.

Flying By

Ding, ding, ding. Another hour, another day, another year. Time flew by for the 219 Juniors.

When asked how she felt about already being a junior, Tracy Cusack replied, "It seems like just yesterday I was sitting in middle school thinking about what high school would be like, and now I just can't believe it's almost over. Time flies."

During the year, juniors unified their efforts to prove themselves as "upperclassmen". Throughout Homecoming week, they demonstrated their class support by participating in the daily activities. Juniors held first place all through the activities and competitions until the pep session lip sync, when the Seniors pulled ahead.

Veronica Nikolas, who was also the class secretary, was chosen as Homecoming representative. "Being secretary of the junior class was a cool experience. I loved helping make decisions that affected our class! I'm also glad I had the privilege of being the Homecoming Representative. It was an experience I'll never forget."

One major decision class officers had to make was the theme for Prom. The date was set for May 3. After much debating between a 60's Night Club or an Egyptian theme, it was finally decided upon Egyptian.

"KV has a variety of many things. Whether it is sports, clubs, or academic activities offered, there is always something for everyone, and always someone who wants to participate. I think they offer everything that is possible for them to create and do at KV.

-Junior Todd Hentschel

"KV has a lot of variety. EVERYONE is different. Some groups of people are more accepting than others, some accept everyone, and some only socialize with their clique. In the end everyone is their own person. Most know how to express their individuality. I think variety is good."

You Saw What?

What is the funniest thing you've ever seen a classmate do?

"Once I walked into the bathroom and saw Lorrie Lewallen dancing in front of her mirror."

-Danielle Brubaker

"When I was in lunch and two of my friends were sharing a chair, one of them decided to be funny and pulled the chair out from underneath the other one. She landed flat on her butt in front of everyone."

-Paul Pajkos

"The funniest thing I've seen was when a girl went to sit down, her chair legs collapsed from under her."

-Aubrey Voyles

"When I went shopping with my friend, she tried on a pair of pants and the strings ripped off when she pulled them up."

-Stephanie Driscoll

"It's really funny when Kevin Mestrovich waters Mrs. Watkins plants and sings 'the Bear Tree' song."

-Brienne Kingma

"I was walking behind a Freshman, and he dropped his books. When he went to pick them up, he got off balance and fell over. His papers went EVERYWHERE on the floor."

Talking together, Brooke Owens and Alicia Sturma go over their Advanced Environmental Science lab. They had to create an environmentally pleasing city plan for DeMotte that would benefit the customers, the owners and the environment.

Top right: Reviewing his study materials, Brandon Fahey sits alone in the cafeteria to quietly prepare for his upcoming test.

Making $

Around the time that juniors finally got their licenses, they realized a new responsibility settled on their shoulders. WORK! Without it, there was no car, insurance, gas money, no movies, no going on dates, no mall, and no fun.

There were a lot of different job options. Students usually started on a general job site, such as fast food places for a minimum wage ($5.15 an hour). Junior Becky Thomason, who worked at Marge's Restaurant, commented, "I love it. It is so laid back. Once our job is done, we can have as much fun as we want."

Other students did not like to work. Amber Sharp, who worked at Burger King, replied, "It's all work and no fun. I work everyday and don't get paid enough."

Stuck in the middle

Making the most of being in the middle, the 243 members of the class of 2005 boasted the title of biggest class. Class Officers were President- Megan Passaloukos, Vice President- Jamie Anderson, Secretary- Kirsten Fifield, and Treasurer- Michael Torbitt. Sophomore class raised $3,000 in a lemonstand fund raiser. Of that, $1,500 went toward their class trip to Navy Pier, which they took in March. The balance went to their class fund and the local food pantry.

Aleesha Wall was the top sales person in the sophomore fundraiser. When asked how she felt about being the top seller, she commented, "I sold so many items because I was going for the DVD player, but I didn't get it. Another reason I sold so many is because I'm looking forward to going to Navy Pier."

In a random drawing of students who paid early, Jillian Golly won the top prize of $30, followed by Alyssa Kuiken with $25, Kaitlyn Ketchum with $20, and Aleesha Wall in fourth place with $15!

Fire Fire Fire

What person or thing would you save if your house was on fire?

"I would save my family because people are a lot more important than clothes, money and other stuff." -Jamie Jones

"If my house was burning down, I would probably save pictures of Baseball Hall of Famers Ernie Banks and Duke Snider. They are special to me because I love baseball and the history of it." -Shane Byers

"If I had to save something in my house, it would have to be my Doggy Bear because I love her to death!" -Scott Craighead

"If I had time to save one thing, I would save my dog because I got him when I was really young for a Christmas present. He really means a lot to me!" -Todd Hepworth

"If my house was burning down, and I had time to save one thing, I would save my Bible because it's the most important and valuable thing I own. My Bible is what's going to help me in my daily walk. It also explains everything, unlike my items that aren't as important." -Cassandra Poisel

NOT A RIGHT!

The time old phrase that parents have always told their kids is driving is a privilege; not a right. When asked her opinion Carrie Rice said, "I feel that driving is a privilege because the definition of a privilege is something you want, not something you need. It is something that you could live without, but, it makes life a little bit easier."

Amber Cunningham also thought driving was a privilege; "You have to earn it by gaining trust. There have been so many irresponsible accidents due to driving that could have been avoided. When you get behind the wheel of an automobile, you have to consider those around you. It's all fun and games until someone gets hurt."

According to AmlSafe.com, one out of three teens has an accident during his/her first year of driving. Teen drivers account for 7% of the driving population but 14% of all accidents and deaths. In police reports, 82% of driving teen accidents are caused by "driving error". Teen drivers suffer from a chronic case of inexperience, inattention, and sadly, even an attraction to thrill-seeking!

Showing the amazing work of Doug Shupe, this self-portrait shows his talent in the art department! He drew this picture in his Drawing I class taught by Mrs. Gail Woolever.

Decked out in a tie for his first annual Homecoming Dance, Freshman Jason Zavala proves that clothes cannot stop him from moving to the beat of Ludacris.

Beginnings

Males comprised 54% of the 229 members of the class of 2006.

Athletes were full of enthusiasm to be involved in high school sports. Garry Jones was a wide receiver for the football team. "The best experience I have ever had," he remembered, "was being on the field during Homecoming and seeing the crowd screaming."

Voted by her classmates, Alana Williams was the representative at Homecoming. Escorted by classmate Patrick Prochno, she made her way across the football field's 50 yard-line.

Class officers were Clarisa Bonilla, Jordon Van Wienen, Ryan Smeltzer, and Mallory Wierzbza. They looked forward to following out their duties under the direction of class sponsor, Miss Groet. "I was proud to represent our class as president," said Clarisa Bonilla, "I enjoyed the job a lot."

-Freshman Mike Warner

"Yes, I definitely verbalize. I talk all the time, and I would sing, but I cannot sing worth a flip. I sometimes sing when I am by myself. I think when people verbalize, they are trying to express how they are feeling towards things."

Biggest Fear

What was your biggest fear about starting high school?

"My biggest fear of high school was getting lost and some mean senior telling me the wrong way to get to my class." -Jessica Thys

"I was nervous about finding my classes and also about trying to get my locker to work. I was really scared about all the seniors picking on me. Of course I was scared of my teachers." -Jordon VanWienen

"I was scared that I wasn't going to find any of my classes and all of the seniors were going to be mean to me." -Lori Kappes

"I was afraid of getting beat up by all of the bigger kids. Also not being able to get back and forth from class to my locker. The scariest thing was hearing all of the scary things about my teachers." -Ben Stein

"My biggest fear of high school was falling down the stairs, but I did it already, so I'm not scared anymore." -Sally Wallenstein

"My biggest fear of high school was getting lost in the crowd or walking in to the wrong class!" -Emma Cunningham

"I think I'm venturous because I sing on stage in front of lots of people, I play sports like track, volleyball, and I'm a swimming manager. It takes a lot of courage to sing in front of people like that because you never know if people will like your voice. My motto is "Keep trying. Don't stop, even if you fail."

-Freshman Carrie Baugrate

"I am venturous by not being afraid to have a good time and by meeting new people. I love to talk whether I know the people or not. Talking lets me express my feelings and show people that don't know me, know how I am and what I think."

-Freshman Elizabeth Moran

"I think I am venturous because I am a very out going person and do not care what people think of me. I have my own way of expressing myself. I enjoy meeting new people and getting to know them better. I love to go out and have fun. It does not matter what I am doing. My friends and I always make it fun."

During Freshman Fundamentals, groups such as The Little Johns make human pyramids including all the group members. Freshman Caitlin Sitema, Carmen Vankley, Darren Wireman, Josh Smith, Senior Sarah Clark, Freshman Josh Smith, Senior Derek Bult, Freshmen Jeremy Murray and Dan Shadiwell all work together in making a human pyramid.

Stepping Up

Survival was the key as 229 freshmen filled the halls on August 19. Many stressed over what their classes might be like. Siobhan Urbano said, "I was so scared about high school. I didn't even want to come."

To decrease the apprehension that controlled many teens, "Senior Leaders" organized a program called Freshman Fundamentals. Each group had two seniors and five freshmen. Leaders created t-shirts that had a whole bunch of designs on them and their group names. Some of the names were The Blingers, Lincoln Logs, Shooting Stars, and Mastercards. In groups they played games like Duck, Duck Goose and the Pretzel. Freshman Christine Miles said, "Freshman Fundamentals was a great way to get to know the school better and to get to know other students better."

Top Five

"Education was always my major. I was motivated by one of my high school teachers, and he still motivates me today," commented Alternative Program Director, Ms. Berenda, when asked about her college decision.

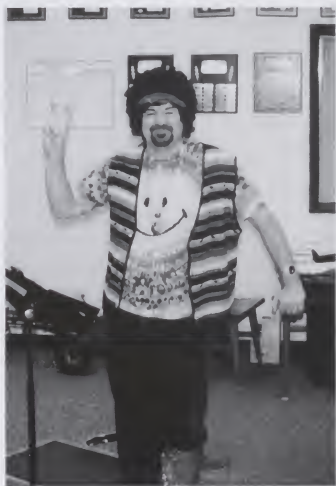

When a poll was taken to see the top five most attended colleges by the KV staff, the results were:

- Most attended 1) Indiana University
2) Ball State University
3) Purdue University
4) Saint Joseph College
5) Valparaiso University

"Teaching was my first choice as a profession, although I wanted to teach physical education first, and math came into the picture after that!" said Math teacher Mr. Gray.

No matter what college they attended, most teachers noted that they always knew they wanted to be an educator.

"I have known I was going to be a teacher since I was four. I have always loved kids of all ages and wanted to make a difference for them," said English teacher Mrs. Eckert.

As part of Homecoming week, Choir Director Mr. Darnell shows his school spirit by dressing up for hippie day.

Mr. Adams decided on the last day of high school that he wanted to go to college.

1 INTERESTING

After commenting she wants to seem even taller, Amanda DeVries sits on the lab table while Mrs. Slaby begins an impromptu lesson on the fern in AP Biology.

3 IT'S FISHY

Looking over at his partner, Freshman William Stafford watches as classmate Josh Smith begins cutting the perch they are to fully dissect in biology.

2 SINGING OUT

As a treat before Christmas break, Katie Nuss, Brandi Bailey and Theresa Wampler sing with the choir while students eat donuts in exchange for a canned good.

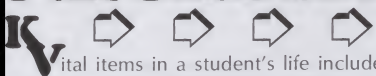

4 MUSIC MAKING

While marching through town, Senior Kelli Peo heads the band. It was Kelli's second year as Co Drum Major, assisted both years by Senior Franklin Gross.

NECESSARY GET "DIRRTY"

Dancing as Christina Aguilera, Junior Amanda Akers takes center stage in her drama class for her turn to shine in the student directed music video.

Vital items in a student's life included friends, family, and of course, academics. For seven periods a day, five days a week, our lives were dedicated to attending class and expanding our knowledge. This proved true for Senior Max Crawford, who was named a National Merit Scholarship Finalist, which is the highest academic scholarship worldwide. Another academic achievement was awarded to Sohpmore Lindsey Beeching. As a participant in Project XL, a statewide competition, Lindsey made school records as the first student to win first place in writing and best of show for her short story, "Dasvedanya".

...highest

7. Mr. Vanderlaan 8. Mrs. Kreischer
9. Mr. Sterrett 10. Mr. Steidle

"I am in 2-D art with Mrs. Klockow. I enjoy her class because it's rather easy because all it is, is worksheets and drawings."

-Junior Jessica Peters

"What I like most about my art class is the students and Mrs. Klockow. She is very inspirational to my work. I really think that she is an excellent teacher and will help you when it's needed."

"I am in Drawing II with Mrs. Miller. I took the class because I enjoy drawing and hope to improve my skills. My favorite project was drawing the covers for our scrap books."

-Junior Dwight Hewitt

Winning a pizza party for their fourth hour class, Benjamin Lewis, Samuel Kent, Joshua Tillger, Jonathan Simpson, and David Borden put the finishing touches on the banner for the West Side game. →

Art

Having the opportunity to share her talent was a rewarding experience for Sara Magdos whose photo entitled "The Light Shines On" was published in Windmills of Wonder. This was just one opportunity for artists.

Sophomore Cassandra Pollard said, "I feel art is a tool that is used to bring out the true nature of the spirit. I needed this time to express myself."

At St. Joseph's Regional High School Art Exhibition Tiffany Kampersal, Josh Tillger and Lindsay Craig won awards of Excellence. Bryant

Barrera, Ashley Coulter, Rebecca Goetz, Joshua Tillger, and Joanna Perzee earned Honorable Mentions.

Another honor for art classes was the acceptance in the juried "Secondary Showcase Show" at Valparaiso University for Josh Tillger's "Winter" in watercolor, Josh Croll's "Skull Bone," and Lindsay Craig's "Self Portrait." After his work was purchased for $200 by National Bank, Tillger said, "It was pretty cool to get some spending money, but I won't spend it until I save enough for something that's really important."

← Working on weaving baskets for Ms. Miller's Fiber Arts class, Freshman Matthew Hamstra and Junior Michael Clark try to keep the same technique throughout the whole basket.

Consulting with Mrs. Klockow on an amulet bag, Junior Abigail Mullins checks to see that the pattern is correct.

Carefully adding finish to his house, Senior Mike Lauritis tries not to get glaze in the wrong areas.

"I like Personal Law because the class is really fun and we get to do a lot of projects that involve the whole class getting into groups."

-Junior Stephanie Driscoll

"Business Law is fun and exciting because Mrs. Jeffries makes it easy and fun to learn about in class so it's never as boring as it sounds."

-Junior Kevin Nally

"I like Sports/Marketing Entertainment because I get to learn about sports that I like, and I get to do big projects and some involving sports."

-Junior Jordan Bonesteel

As Kacie Etnire copies a business document for Mrs. Zacher, she reminds herself to make a copy of her lost business handout.

Reading a letter, seniors Johnathan Stamper and Travis Stansberry read about upcoming sports events in the school.→

Learning communicating skills, Senior Carol Ann Rish becomes prepared for her business future.

Business

Business will affect everyone through a variety of classes such as Personal Law, Accounting, Business Law, Keyboarding, Notehand, Business Foundations, and Sports/Entertainment Marketing.

"Mrs. Ginzer's class is a very fun and exciting class. I thought that the class was interesting because it had to do with sports, and I like sports," commented sophomore Todd Hepworth.

Mrs. Zacher, Mrs. Ginzer, and Mrs. Jeffries helped students achieve their goals to make future success possible.

Mrs. Zacher was recertified to issue Indiana Certificates of Technical Achievement, which documented the skills each student has performed in the classroom or in a work related setting.

In regards to her retirement, Mrs. Jeffries said, "I don't think I could have ever had a career I have loved as much as I do teaching. I've often felt that I've gotten much more from the job than I could have possibly given to it. KV is the very best, and I will miss it. Part of my heart will always remain here. Thank you."

As she completes her assignment, Tiffany Stevens quickly reviews it to check for mistakes.

Typing a memo for Mrs. Zacher's class, Piper Barrera hurries to finish her assignment before the end of class.

"Mrs. Steiner's class is an absolute blast. We made a music video which gradually "pepped" up to the grand finale of Justin Timberlake's "Cry me a River." I love acting."

"I did a dance for drama class to "Sweet Home Alabama." I was moving to the beat. I had a blast on stage."

-Senior Allison Hamstra

"I like acting. I was planning to be an actress, so I took Theatre Arts. When I was little, I used to dance along with "Cinderella." It's so different being able to dance in front of an audience."

Held spellbound by Senior Joshua Croll, the audience focuses on the outstanding presence of the Theatre Arts presentation of Antigone.

Playing their parts as Ismene and Antigone, Sophomore Emily Smith and Junior Amanda Akers portray their characters' emotions to the audience. →

Reading his part for a children's story, Senior Derek Bult expresses his character's feelings.

Theater Arts II

If you want to learn how to express yourself better and have fun at the same time, take Theater Arts with Mrs. Steiner.

In this class, students learned to improvise and write plays, scenes, imaginatively express thoughts, feelings, moods and characters, and apply techniques involving voice, gesture, facial expressions, and body movement to convey emotion and meaning.

Senior Matthew Pritt said, "This was the best class I had my Senior year. We had lots of fun acting and being yelled at if we messed up. Mrs. Steiner is a really great teacher."

Learning about plays was a very important step. Before the students could perform on stage, they had to study the plays. After learning about plays, the students performed their acts in front of audiences in grades K-12.

Towards the end of the semester, the class worked on and performed music videos for the class. Junior Whitney Prochno said, "My favorite thing about this class is the Music Video! It's really, really fun learning different dances and getting to act crazy with my friends!

Playing his part as Pharrel in the Justin Timberlake music video, "Like I Love You," Senior Matthew Pritt rocks it out for the class.

"Mr. Black's class is a blast. If it weren't for him, I'd be sleeping through the entire class. He just makes it interesting."

-Freshman Steve Roells

"Retaking Junior English was one of the worst things I've ever had to do. The second time around however Huck Finn came to life, and Tim O'Brien's 'The Things They Carried' brought the reality of the Iraqi War to Jasper County."

-Senior Stacy Hunter

"I really enjoyed having Dramatic Literature with Mrs. Steiner because she is so dramatic and makes learning fun."

-Senior Felicia LaCesse

Studying her notes in her notebook for an English test, Freshman Krista Aurelia takes her lunch hour to study for her English test.

During her speech on astrology, Senior Kyleen Eden uses a computer print out. Eden was a member of Mrs. Steiner's speech class. →

Focused on world peace, Junior Amber Cooper sets up the computer in order to complete her seven paragraph term paper for Mr. Tomey's English class.

English

Beyond reading and writing, English students completed presentations in order to meet the new Indiana Standards.

"English class is a challenge and at the same time fun," commented Freshman Keith Hoffman.

Freshmen read many novels including To Kill A Mockingbird. They also read some short stories and learned about Greek mythology.

Sophomores cried with the unfairness in The Crucible. Juniors read Huckleberry Finn and The Chosen, and some classes read an independent novel and did a report. Seniors read Grapes of Wrath and Hamlet.

"English with Ms. Eckert was fun. Then we had Mr. Snyder, a student teacher from Valparaiso University, who taught English in an interesting way," commented Sophomore Julie Dowhen.

"I enjoyed Mr. Black's Film Literature class because the main thing we did was watch movies all hour. My favorite part of the class was when we got into groups and made our own films. It was an awesome class," added Senior Eric Evans.

← Diligently, Senior Joshua Croll flips through his flashcards. In second semester, Croll utilized his speech abilities in the spring play Antigone.

Working on a literature assignment, Juniors Eric Bakrevski and Danielle Brubaker address numerous issues raised in Huck Finn.

Applying her skills, avid reader Ashley McLaughlin uses her extensive vocabulary on the newspaper staff.

"My favorite thing about Health Careers is that I get to learn first hand about working in a hospital and not just reading about it in a book. I chose this class in hopes that it would narrow my focus for a career to study in college."

-Senior Tiffany Davis

"What I liked most about ESL is that I got to meet different people and become friends with them. I also got to learn a lot about Mrs. Kreischer. Thanks to her and other teachers I was able to learn and understand the homework that they gave me."

-Freshman Lizeth Saavedra

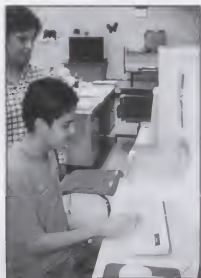

"My favorite thing about ICE is you get to experience going to school and having a job at the same time. It helps you be responsible for your actions."

-Senior Staci Wood

Reading a newspaper, Senior ICE students Laura Bronski and Amber Clarich wait patiently until they have to sign out for their work program.

Talking with Senior Candice Millsop in the office, Ms. Groet explains the plans for the day. ICE students worked at various jobs throughout the area. →

Working on the computer with Mrs. Kreischer, Sophomore David Cazares works on his English building skills, as well as his homework in the ESL classroom.

Life Skills

When it came to educational diversity, the corporation offered numerous opportunities for enrollment. Three of these programs were ICE (Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education), Health Careers, and ESL (English as a Second Language).

The newest program was Health Careers headed by Mrs. Truman-Forehand. An all year course, the students learned the basic trainings that were used in the Health Field. Students had to be seniors, and must have completed most of their required classes before they took this three hour course. Teens went to Porter Memorial on Mondays, and Saint Anthony's on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

ICE was a vocational program in which students went to school for half the day and worked the other half. Local businesses worked with the school to provide on-the-job training in addition to regular work.

ESL was an in-house program that offered bilingual students assistance with homework, and building English skills. Aiding the students in their studies were Mrs. Kreischer and Ms. Arambula.

←Signing out of school, Senior David Gooden gets ready for his Health Careers class at Porter Memorial Hospital.

Singing Happy Birthday to Mrs. Kreischer, Senior GLoria Gonzalez, Freshman Lizeth Saavedra, Sophomore Yesenia

Corza, Junior Maribel Espino, Freshman Maria Hernandez, and Freshman Nancy Herrera commemorate the event filled day.

"I love having a foreign language class. I'm in German, and I think it's so cool to learn their language and also about their culture. It's really cool to learn about other people and their ways of life."

"There is never a dull moment in Spanish I with Mrs. Coddington. She makes the world of Spain come alive with her excitement for the language. Class activities are really fun because we get to work together in groups."

-Freshman Kimberly Berns

"French IV was a good learning experience. I only wish the class was smaller for more individual learning time for each of us."

-Senior Joshua Duggleby

Doing a skit for Spanish III, Junior Eric VanKley pretends to talk on the phone to his partner. Some skits required props and costumes.

Preparing a French dessert, Senior Jonathon Whitaker and Junior Kacie Woods scoop vanilla ice cream into the boiled pears as a treat for the class. →

Presenting their Spanish dialogue, Juniors Veronica Nikolas and Krystal Barton read the script they'd previously written in class.

Foreign Language

Foods, music, fashion, and activities were some of the many things students experimented with in their foreign language class. Assignments in French included making desserts or foods, designing outfits out of newspaper, and taking a field trip to see Cyrano De Bergerac.

In Spanish, group activities included Spanish food based parties, a "sombrero", and a special song for birthdays.

Decorating the board for Christmas, performing skits, and watching soap operas were some of German's many activities.

During spring break 10 French and Spanish students took a trip to Spain and France. "The trip was really fun. My favorite place that we went to was the Eiffel Tower. I hope to go back again," replied Sophomore Alyssa Kuiken.

Aubrey Voyles took the French IU Honors program test, and was chosen to have an interview. Although she did not advance past that stage, she said, "It was a great learning experience. Even though I did not make it, I don't regret any of the work it took."

←Every Christmas, the German classes create a decorated holiday board. Second year students decorated theirs as a village with a sleigh and Santa.

During a skit, Junior Danielle Brubaker consoles Lauren DeVore. Brubaker was playing a talk show host, and DeVore was the "guest".

Dressed up as Santa for a Spanish skit, Junior Dustin Wartman waits for his partners to come so they can start. Most students in Foreign Language classes participated in various dialogues.

"It was really overwhelming. Our life revolves around the baby only. It's hard trying to do all your normal day things. It really made me think that children are a life altering decision."

-Sophomore Kaitlyn Ketchum

"What I like most about needlecraft is that when people knew what they were doing; they would help someone who didn't know what they were doing and I liked that."

-Senior Tara Schoonveld

"I like Nutrition and Wellness because we learn a lot about the eating styles of other countries. I also liked being able to cook the food and see what it tasted like. This class showed me how important what I eat really is."

-Freshman Brandon Phillips

Comparing her actual project to her rough draft, Sophomore Jennifer Sonntag double checks to make sure that she is getting her stitches in the right place.

While Junior Stephanie Driscoll fries up the bacon Junior Jennifer Williams gets ready to put the BLT's together.→

While trying to be the best "mom" she can be, Freshman Siobhan Urbano tries to stay calm while feeding and undressing her computer baby.

In the Vocational Early Childhood class the students worked with and learned about 2-5 year olds. They focused on what to expect and how to take care of children in emergency situations. Senior Michelle Ossmann said, "I advise anyone who is good with children or wants to teach to take this class."

In Child Development, the students learned all of the things that they would need to know about being pregnant or taking care of a toddler. Students were required to take care of a "computer baby" for a minimum of two days.

According to Senior Gloria Gonzalez, "Some of the things we learned in needlecraft were how to do embroidery, knitting, and latchhook. For our finals we got to pick whatever project we wanted. That was really cool."

In Adult Roles and Responsibilities, juniors and seniors learned to build positive attitudes and behaviors through knowledge and skills.

Nutrition and Wellness and Advanced Foods both centered around cooking and food nutrition. Teens learned numerous things such as lab safety.

←Feeding the baby one last time, Freshman Joshua Richardson smiles at the thought of giving her back after taking care of her all weekend.

While Freshman Heather Karge works on her final project, Senior Candice Milsop jokes with Ms. Groot about changing her project.

During Early Childhood Education and Services, Senior Erin Hamm teaches the child how to make shapes using cookie cutters and playdough.

"I think my math class is great. Mrs. Sherwood is a cool teacher, and she makes it easy to learn. I really enjoy doing math problems, and she allows me to like it even more than before."

-Junior Krysten Gunter

"I like Algebra class with Mr. Gray and Mr. Moeller because I learn a lot of new things, and they are really nice. They make class fun, and it's easier to learn things that would've been hard to learn."

-Freshman Markus Burns

"I used to hate math because I never understood it, but now that I have Mrs. Roberts for Algebra II, I enjoy it. Mrs. Roberts is an awesome teacher; she really helps me understand it!"

-Sophomore Rebecca Bledsoe

Using his scientific graping calculator, a mandatory and helpful Pre-calculus and Calculus tool, Nicholas Koedyker begins his Pre-calculus quiz during Mr. Hostetler's class.

Completing her newest Geometry assignment, Junior Tiffany Owens reviews what she has learned in class and uses the information to help her finish the last of her problems.→

Proving that all Algebra classes aren't just hard assignments, quizzes, and tests, Ruth Sharp listens as some of her classmates retell a humorous story after they finished their in-class assignment.

Math

With step after step, process after process, and mathematical rule after mathematical rule, students utilized repetition as a strong tool for mathematical completion.

Although most students started at the Pre-algebra, Algebra Tech, or Algebra level, many students were taking the more advanced classes such as Algebra II, Geometry, Pre-Calculus, or Calculus.

"Mr. Hostetler's class is fun because you could have fun and learn at the same time. He really puts a lot into his teaching," commented Freshman Derek Boissy.

A tactic that Mrs. Roberts used was if her students worked hard and finished all of their work, Monday through Friday, they could have the weekend off with no homework. This helped students to keep on track. Mrs. Sherwood also let students have the weekend off.

In Mr. Gray's room, student teacher Mr. Moeller began his teaching experience. Students enjoyed the opportunity of working on Algebra with him. Senior Joe Ross said, "Mr. Moeller is a very nice guy. He likes to help us whenever he can."

As she completes her assignment, Taylor Clifford uses what she learned about the quadratic formula to help her find the correct answer in Algebra II.

Listening to Mr. Nagel lecture on how to use two points to make a line on a graph in Pre-algebra, Freshman Brian Winter prepares to start his next assignment.

"Health class gives students a chance to learn about things they might not ask about."

"Health was a real interesting class because we got to learn about diseases and the harmful effects of smoking."
-Sophomore Timothy Fraticelli

"I think that health got to teach me things about diseases and health related topics that I did not know about."

-Sophomore Aurora Mijares

Caught in a variety of positions, Brandy DeVries, Ashlee Bonesteel and Carly Rice complete sit ups for the National Fitness Test.

Going strong, Jimmy Krueger finishes the aerobic part of his P.E. class. Freshmen were required to run the mile in a maximum of eight minutes.

Suspended in motion, the stretchers feet are secured by Kyle Turnpugh.

PE/Health

Physical education program has established a curriculum that continually strove to develop physical fitness in all our students.

At the end of the school year, all P.E. students were tested in the following areas: an endurance run- which measured cardio-respiratory endurance, bent knee situps- which measured trunk strength and endurance, sit and reach test- flexibility in hamstrings and lower back region, pullups or flexed arm hang- upper body strength and endurance, standing long jumps- explosive leg strength, shuttle run- agility and quickness, 100 yd. sprint-speed, quickness and anaerobic capacity.

Students who scored above the 80th percentile for their age group in all events received the "Outstanding Award". Those who performed above the 45th percentile, but not above the 80th percentile, received the "Attainment" award.

Nationally, the pattern of awards was approximately 6 percent Outstanding, 28 percent Attainment, and 66 percent Participation.

Held down by classmates, Adam McDaniel demonstrates how far his legs will stretch for the physical fitness program.

Explaining the fundamentals of chipping a golf ball, instructor Mr. Greenlee moves the ball onto rough terrain.

Pointing out to the field, Mr. Roberts shows the students where they're going to play tag football.

"Science is fun because Mrs. Krouse is cool. She helps me learn a lot more, and she makes it fun too. She is a good teacher, and knows how to make it interesting for the whole class."

-Freshman Jacob Lemmen

"I enjoyed Ms. Patterson's Biology class more than I expected, I would. I really didn't like the whole dissection thing, but I know that a lot of people learned from it."

"It was nice to get out of class when we went outside to do labs. One that we did was to see how much water different types of soil retained. It was actually kind of hard to find a lot of different kinds of dirt."

-Senior David Lensberry

As a final project for the electricity unit in Physical Science, students in Mrs. Watkin's class had to create a battery powered car using two AA batteries, and a 9-volt motor. After scooping water from a ditch behind the school during their Biology I class, Freshmen Royce Havens and William Wagner search through it for various bugs. →

Asking guest speaker David Blakemore some questions, Sophomore Devin Freckleton wonders about the different space foams.

Listening to Ms. Patterson's directions on dissecting, Freshmen Ashlee Bonesteel and Derek Boissy begin cutting open the fish.→

Science

Through electricity, nature, and technology, science has been used in almost everything students have done. In a variety of classes ranging from Chemistry to Advanced Environmental Science, and Biology I and II, pupils enjoyed hands-on experiences. T.J. Noe said, "Dissection was the most interesting part of Mrs. Garrison's Biology I class."

Additional hands-on projects included a battery-powered car in Physical Science, plant identification in biology, field studies in Advanced Environmental Science, and a field trip to the Indiana Sand Dunes on April 17.

A new teacher was added to the science hall. Mrs. Watkins taught Academic Chemistry, Integrated Chemistry/Physics, and Physical Science. "I am really excited to be teaching at KVHS, and I'm looking forward to the future," said Watkins.

Student teachers, Mrs. Krouse and Ms. Obee were found in Mrs. Garrison's and Ms. Patterson's classes in the spring semester.

← Modeling a safety space suit during a school assembly, Junior Jeffrey Chester walks across the stage to show what the full space suit looks like. This was done during a presentation about rockets by guest speaker, David Blakemore.

Discussing the differences between berries, aggregates, and multiple fruits, Kristin King, Heather Havens, Anissa Huhn, and Kyleen Eden watch as Mrs. Slaby slices open bananas, oranges, apples, and watermelon in AP Biology.

"I like World History with Mr. Vanderlaan because I like how he teaches International Relations with a sense of humor. It's always fun having him teach because he's a blast."

"Econ was so much fun. GP is a great man and made me laugh with his stories and shouting. I learned quite a bit through Econ study parties!"

-Senior Jillian Melten

"KV offers a variety of history classes, but my favorites have been Mrs. Price's U.S. History and Mr. Post's Econ class. I have learned a lot about the world and what it has done for me."

-Senior Jacob Hedges

Working independently, Senior Mei Jin takes extensive notes for her Econ class.

Concentrating on her homework, Senior Stacey Wood works on her Econ test. →

Awaiting the end of the hour, Juniors Joe Whitaker and Brian Deeter clarify their assignment.

Social Studies

Social Studies represented the past, the present and the future. From the war in Iraq and the Sars scare, to the decline in the stock market, students discussed local, national, and international financing and events.

"US History has taught me about our own nation's background, and I also learned about my own family heritage," mentioned Junior Brandy Whitford.

The department welcomed Mike Peo who taught International Relations and Government.

"Mr. Peo is a very exciting teacher. You never know what he's going to do next," said Freshman Ashley Cooper.

Economy and Government classes learned about personal choices. AP Economy students did and created a commercial and interview.

←Determined to ace their next Econ test, Seniors Brooke Boege, Ryan Bristol, and Nicholas Harper sit attentively in Mr. Post's Econ class.

Talking to Mr. Norwine, Junior Amanda Akers listens to him explain her test mistakes.

Lecturing on "elastic supply product", Mr. Post shares his vast economic knowledge with his Econ class.

"The fact that it (Computer Repair class) prepares you to take the A+ Hardware and A+ Operating System test to get certified is a plus."

-Senior Kyle Birky

"I enjoy being in this class very much. I like to work with wood, doing things that I can't do at home. In this class I build things that I need, and that will benefit me in life. I decided to take this class to learn more about wood working."

-Junior Eric Laud

"I chose this class to further my computer knowledge and to get A+ certification for college."

-Senior Joshua Sutton

Drilling a screw into a seat slate, Juniors Daniel Nichols, Joe Whitaker, and Ronald Rosalowski build a lounge chair in Fundamentals of Engineering class.

Copying information onto his paper, Senior Walter Klingaman notes web addresses for his homework in Ms. Geiselman's Computer Repair class.

After listening to Ms. Geiselman explain how technology is changing more and more, Senior Michael Illiff works on a computer program.

Technology

Students in Fundamentals of Engineering worked on a project of their own choosing and design.

Senior Nicholas Harper said, "The best part about this class is the hands-on experience you get."

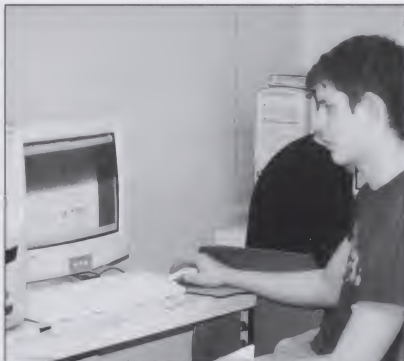

The idea of the project was to increase their understanding and skill in the areas of design, joinery, machining, and finish.

In Manufacturing Systems students explored the application of tools, materials, and energy in designing, producing, using and assessing manufacturing products. Junior Daniel Nichols said, "I choose to be in this class because it's fun, and you can build things."

In Computer Repair with Ms. Geiselman, the students learned how to troubleshoot software problems. The class was geared toward students receiving their A+ certification that would enable them to get a decent job.

In order to get this certification, students had to pass The Core Hardware Exam and the Operating System Technologies Exam. Students covered installation, configuration and upgrading, diagnosing and troubleshooting computer problems.

←Trying to finish his project for Mr. McKay, Junior Jeremy Easto uses a lathe to cut a design into the base of a lamp.

Completing his homework for Computer Repair, Senior Matthew Ketchum searches the internet for information.

Ripping the side of a piece of wood, Junior Joseph Whitaker cuts the wood for a Queen Anne coffee table.

"I like technology, and I enjoy its ever changing nature. My favorite part of teaching this class is seeing students succeed in not only my class, but other classes, as well as life itself."

-Mr. Kaluf

"The most important thing I've learned is that there are such great opportunities in the field of manufacturing, and if you have a knack for shopwork you could turn it into a lifelong career."

-Junior Stephen Bacon

"My favorite thing is that we learn a lot of things in only one class, and we can use all the programs in the computer."

Carefully cutting on an angle iron, Senior Adam Sharp tries to shape a piece of metal into form. Welders had to complete a daily task list for Mr. Mengel.

Working on his computer, Freshman Brian DeKock recreates a drawing from his book onto the com-puter during one of Mr. Hine's CAD classes.→

Testing the strength of his bridge, Transport Systems student Josh Richardson piles 55 pounds on his bridge before it breaks.

Technology

Technology, an ever growing field of opportunity, offered a variety of classes including Welding with Mr. Mengel, CAD I, II, or III with Mr. Hine, and Introduction to Engineering and Transport Systems with Mr. Kaluf.

In Welding, the students worked off a task list. Welding taught students to keep a safe, clean, and fun workplace even when really dangerous tools were used. "It's hard to maintain safety in such a large class, but the noises help. We do have a pretty good safety record," said Mr. Mengel.

CO2 cars and learning how to make 3D objects were the main focus of Intro to Engineering and Design/Transport Systems. Intro to Engineering Design focused on designing and creating 3-D drawings using AutoCAD Inventor. "The thing I am most looking forward to is the CO2 car because I like to whittle my own design and see what I can turn it into," said Freshman Ryan Hilton.

CAD classes focused on using computer systems and producing drawings in related documents. Freshman Brian DeKock said, "I chose this class because I thought it would be interesting." In CAD, students learned valuable computer techniques that will help them in the world of technology.

Tightening a bolt, Sophomore Matthew Brumley and Senior Jason DeVries work on a sandblaster in Welding.

Complimenting Senior James Robinson on a weld, Mr. Mengel tells him why he has done a good job.

In a field dominated by men, Kirsten Fifield holds her own in CAD II. Kirsten was making a computer generated mailbox.

"This class teaches you a lot to do with carpentry. If you want to be a carpenter or just want to learn about carpentry, this is definitely the class to take. Mr. Mulvihill is an easy guy to get along with and a good teacher. We have fun at the trades."

-Senior Frank Turnpough

"Teamwork is the most important part of Building Trades. You have to be able to work with each other."

-Senior Richard Olsen

"This class has influenced my choice in careers because of the many skills you learn, like framing, roofing, electrical and plumbing. When I graduate I'd like to go to college to learn about Architecture."

-Senior Eric Braun

Squeezing themselves into the crawl space, Seniors Ryan Bristol and Adam Sharp work on the heating and air-conditioning installation.

Trying to keep his balance and not make a mess, Senior Steve Valutis does the mudding on the drywall. →

Trying not to smash his fingers, Senior Ryan Middlecamp hammers the nails into the finishing trim on the Anderson window sill.

Building Trades

In Building Trades, seniors worked together to build a beautiful home in Pleasant Hills Subdivision. The 1600 sq. foot house had a geo thermal heating system. Students did everything from laying the concrete to landscaping.

Mr. Mulvihill tried to run the class as much like a real job as he possibly could. He placed more responsibility on the students themselves so that even though they had some help from professionals, they did most of the work. Senior Steve Valutis said, "I chose to be in this class because I thought it would be an excellent training class towards my career." Building the house was a year long project.

This three hour class gave seniors an overview of the Residential Construction Industry. Careers that the students prepared for were surveying, masonry, carpentry, electricity, plumbing, heating, drywall, concrete work, and exterior finishing.

Prerequisite for the class was construction processes. Senior Ryan Bristol said, "We have the freedom that we need to prepare us for the real world."

←Working on the deck, Seniors Matt Culp, Ryan Middlecamp and James Robinson check to see if the boards fit into place.

In the foyer, Seniors Joshua Betts and Randall Sowder work together to make sure the baseboard fits just right.

Putting up drywall, Senior Todd Dapshis makes his contribution to the construction of the house in Pleasant Hills.

CAPABILITY BE A SUCCESS

K Versatility was an attribute many students had when active in a club. Commitments were made to perform club duties along with schoolwork. Among the list of 24 clubs to join, Teen Freedom Corp. was available as a new club. While home with mono, founder Anna Gatlin came to the conclusion "The club was something I really wanted to pursue. I think it is a very neat club, and although it's a little hard to get a lot going at first, in years

¶ Officers: TFC/Anna Gatlin-President, Lindsay Peo-Vice President, Joshua Wierzba-Treasurer, Nicole Granger-Corporate Secretary, and Bailee Serocinski-Recording Secretary

¶ Major Events: TFC presented the first hero award in the KV community. Teens sold red, white, and blue ribbons in support of the war effort. Each color of the ribbon represented a different emotion. Red showed our heroes as bleeding, as we remember our fallen. White reflected our thoughtfulness as we helped others in need, and blue signified our strength for we would not give up on our dreams of peace and freedom. In May TFC adopted a platoon and sent numerous boxes of towels and wash cloths, candy, razors, black ink pens and all kinds of snack food for the troops.

As she works next to Senior Katherine Liss, Junior Megan Kwasniewski finishes a congratulatory speech for Principal Phil Apple who won TFC's 1st "Hero of the Community" award.

"I joined TFC because I enjoy helping people. I encourage everyone to join. It's a good experience!"
Michelle Anderson

"Speech Club has been a great way to meet people and take on new challenges and ideas!"
Kimberly Kuiper

When the TFC leader, Junior Anna Gatlin, presented the first Hero Award to Principal Philip Apple, he explained that he wasn't the real hero, the teachers were the real heroes.

Showing that they are supporting their community, Juniors Michael Lapota and Meggin Crim participate in Kougat Kourt.

¶ Experienced Reporters: Theodore Noe and Stacy Hunter

¶ Reporters: Ashley McLaughlin, Aaron Mann, Allan Rumer, and Courtney Grevenstuk

¶ Special Issues: Homecoming, Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day, and Graduation

¶ Attended: IHSPA (Indiana High School Press Association)

Finishing up his story, Theodore Noe prepares his work which included an interview with guidance counselor, Mrs. Hundt.

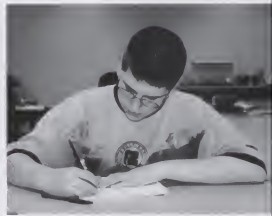

Creating a story from an interview, Allan Rumer works on making it interesting.

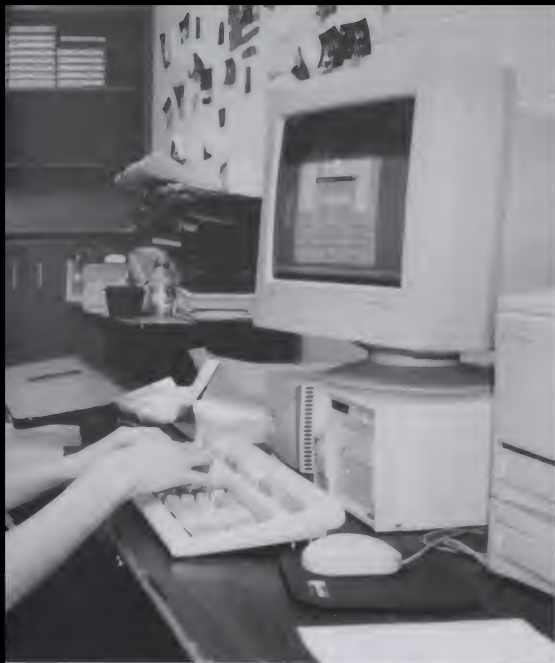

"I enjoyed meeting new people and talking to people that I have never really talked to before!"
Stacy Hunter

"I realized you couldn't just write about anything, you need to find something interesting!"
Courtney Grevenstuk

Completing his last deadline, Alexander Warren checks over his work for any mistakes.

As he learns the basics of Newspaper, Aaron Mann practices layout designs after receiving directions from co-editor Alexander Warren.

K

Varsity sports took advantage of the new year and new athletes. Girls soccer had a record breaking season with 14 wins, as well as individual records. Freshman Emma Cunningham scored six goals in a game, Junior Melissa Strehler had three assists in a game, and Junior Katie Nuss had her sixth shut-out; adding their names to the list of outstanding competitors.

CROWD EXCITEMENT

During home football games, varsity cheerleaders keep the crowd's enthusiasm strong and keep the team motivated to win the game.

New year also brought a hope to football players. With a new head coach, the season ended 4-7. Seniors Derek Bult, Jonathan Simpson, Mike Lauraitis, and Matt Ketchum all commented their favorite high school memory was their senior year football team.

3 GO KOUGARS

As the Kougars Fan of the Night, Junior Eric DeKock relaxes on the couch with friends of his choice: Juniors Victor DiTola, Sam Kent, and Randy Ivanov.

2 FACE DOWN

Making sure to keep his competitor's head down, Junior Michael Lapota grabs hold of his wrist and prepares to flip him over. Lapota won by a pin.

4 '02 SEMI-STATE

After the semi state meet, Ryan Sessions, Jeromy Jackson, Matt Donis, Robert Jabaay, Dominic Willis, Andy Klemp, and Alex Bishop pause for a picture.

Football

Opening with a bang, the football team with the help of newest members, Coaches Tomey and Prescott, captured three victories in the first four games. Coach Tomey said, "I am very happy with the progress the team made each week. I thought our seniors did a great job inspiring the younger players to work hard and commit themselves to excellence."

One of the senior players Frank Turnpaugh said, "My senior year of football was definitely my most memorable one. We had to overcome every obstacle in the book with just a handful of players, I will always remember Friday nights under the lights and the sound of bodies smashing into each other."

Varsity Boys had many ups and downs. Senior Joe Monet commented, "As a first year player, being able to play with the other guys at a competitive level was a lot of fun and a big accomplishment."

Opening the season with a Victory over Calumet, the team only had to wait four games before the next victory, that would bring them close to a 500 season. After a 12 game dry spell the boys beat North Judson in the final minutes 49-43 for their final victory. Coach Black commented, "You have to start small to get big."

JV and Freshman teams were "on the ball" with a four game winning streak in the beginning of the season. Each team had its memorable moments. Sophomore Jeremy Kunzman said, "My most memorable moment was when we went to Christian Haven and worked on drills that brought the team together. Everyone had their own job to do and obstacles to overcome."

"I think our team has come a long way and we have played to the best of our ability," said Freshman Michael Warner. They also had some really great accomplishments. "The team's greatest accomplishment was coming back to practice day after day and competing with Tippecanoe Valley, which is third in state," said Freshman Troy Jackson who had the best scoring average at 15.2.

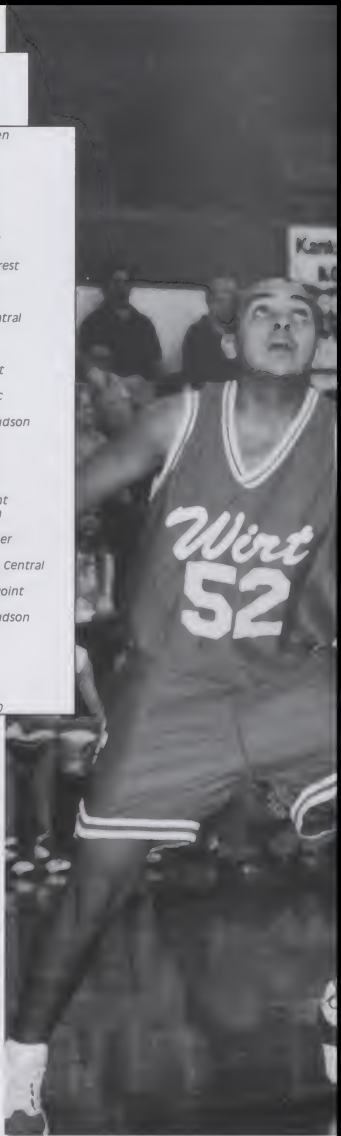

Also contributing to the Freshman team, were Daniel Mendoza with most rebounds, 69, Matthew Hamstra with 114 total points, and Jordon Van Wiene with an overall free throw percentage of 73%. JV top rebounder was Scott Valenkamp, JV top defender was Matthew Jurs, and JV most improved was Gentry Brown.

Cheerleading

Keeping up team spirit was self involving for cheerleaders as they headed off to summer camp under the direction of graduated cheerleaders Nicki Torbitt and Nichole Shields. "This was the first year in a while that the boys didn't come to camp," commented Captain Jacqueline Vankley.

Due to the lack of coach knowledge and spare time, the squad did not go to competition.

When school started, the squad went through many changes. At first the squad was coached by Erica Walla, who only stayed till mid season. Under her direction, the cheerleaders sponsored the first Saturday night semi formal Homecoming dance. According to Ashley Miller, "The fun was made by the great D. J. and the decorations."

As the year went by, Janet Wireman stepped up as head coach. Joining her were Danielle Murray and Vickie Stemper. Janet Wireman commented, "Coaching the girls was one of my biggest challenges. I couldn't have done it without them."

Colophon

Kougar Pride, volume 33, was produced by the yearbook class at Kankakee Valley High School in Wheatfield, IN and printed by Heff Jones yearbooks in Mission, Kansas.

The account was serviced by representative Lisa Keene and in-plant account executive Julie Bogart.

The cover was designed by the editors and incorporates black, navy and scarlet litho ink on a 160 point pemotone base cover with gloss lamination. The names were stamped in red. The endpapers were printed different front and back in scarlet and navy on white vibracolor stock.

The book's 200 pages are printed on 80 pound boroextra stock. The 2003 volume includes 30 pages in full color.

All body copy was set in AHJ Latino, AHJ Optus, AHJ Glytus, AHJ Antique Olive, and AHJ Martin in 12 point. All type was set by Pagemaster.

The Pride was composed using Microsoft on five IBM compatible computers.

More than 2400 frames of color and 200 frames of black and white film were shot by staff members using one 35mm Pentax and one 35mm Canon. Processing and printing were done by Tysen's. Interstate Studios headed by Steve and Deanna Kirk provided portraits. The 500 copies were sold at prices ranging from $38-60, depending on purchase date. Pride is a member of NSPA, IEA, Q&S, and IHSPA. ANY ERRORS ARE NONINTENTIONAL.

On Friday March 21, the Special Olympics Unified Basketball Team traveled to Indianapolis for the Final Four tournament.

They walked away with the State title. Kougars defeated the Warriors of Johnson County in the first game 63-39.

In the championship game the Kougars beat the ISC West Pistons 59-31.

The team was made up of Seniors: Derek Bult, Jon Simpson, Ryan Middlekamp, and Michael Skinner, Juniors: Jon Misiora, Shawn Davidson, Johnathan Cusack, and Jeff Klemp, Sophomores: Nick Martin, Trent Dorn, and James Kania. Their coach was Mr. Otis Cochran.

Each player received a gold medal and the team received a trophy. "I think that going to Indy with the rest of my teammates was a great experience, especially when we won," said Senior Derek Bult

Other year end victories included all-state choir nods for Katie Nuss, Drew Travis, Devin Freckelton, Ashton DeVries, and Adam Kerkes.

1 Watching her object closely, Senior Brooke Boege concentrates on catching every detail. Sketching was a project required in her 2nd hour 3-D art class.

2 Picking up garbage for Environmental Club, Freshmen Patrick Prochno, Daniel Broholm, and Darren Wireman check out the type of items they found.

3 In Biology I Freshman Jasmine Allen pins the frogs' legs to the tray before she dissects it.

4 As Principal Phil Apple watches, sophomore class officers Kirsten Fifield, Megan Passaloukos, and Michael Torbitt hand over a $300 check which was a share of the proceeds from the sophomore class fundraiser to Mrs. Toni Lapsley coordinator of the Good Neighbor Food Pantry.

5 Having a little fun while washing cars, Junior Lori Lewallen tries not to get the soap bubbles in her eyes. Next year's Senior Leaders washed the staff's cars as a service project.

6 Trying to beat the SADD record, Freshman Christopher Cook runs around the cones. Pathfinders held a game in which a group of four students or teachers had to break a record in getting on all four sides and putting on their seatbelts. The time to beat was 51 seconds.

Involvement

In a year of turmoil, Kougars kept their face on family and friends who went over seas in defense of the country.

At home students adjusted to the illness of history teacher Mrs. Price who spent four months battling back from heart surgery, and Principal Apple who was afflicted with both pneumonia and a heart infection during the final days of school.

Change also came in the government area, when Mr. Jerry Hoover resigned just days before the start of school, and Mr. Mike Peo stepped up.

Honors were earned throughout the school as Katie Nuss was selected as the lead in 42nd street at the Valparaiso Opera House. Brandy Whitford and John Plant escorted by Mrs. Zacher competed at the BPA Nationals in Texas where John placed 3rd out of 5,000 teens in Business Procedures.

A million dollars in scholarship money was offered to the class of 2003. It definitely was a year of involvement.

1 Jokingly measuring himself, Junior Tom Lesczynski waits to get on the Chaos ride at Indiana Beach.

2 Accepting her Super Senior questions, Gloria Gonzalez smiles as Mr. Skrobol shakes her hand congratulating her on her leadership accomplishment. Super Senior dinner was held on May 21.

3 Junior Justyne Kondos washes cars for the Senior Leaders project. Each group was assigned to bring supplies for the car wash.

4 Serving the ball, Freshman Kelly Boggs watches to see if her serve made it across the net.

5 Waiting for their ride to start, Senior Brandi Bailey and 2002 graduate Brandy Forsythe strike a pose to remember the good times they had at Indiana Beach.

THE WAR ON TERRORISM

Over the course of the year, the world's attention focused on a chain of tumultuous terrorist events. In Afghanistan, the Taliban regime fell from power as U.S. troops crippled the al-Qaeda network and cleared caves in search of Osama bin Laden. World-wide, civilians and military personnel fell victim to terrorist bombs and acts of hatred. On the home front, "bioterrorism" became a common term after it was revealed that Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein was producing biological weapons. Hussein's defiance of United Nation's imposed sanctions prompted the United States to seek world support of military action against Iraq. Members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrestled over conflicting opinions on the issue, while North Korean leader Kim Jong Il threatened to deploy nuclear weapons if Iraq was attacked. As tensions rose among political leaders, the world watched and waited to see what the next chapter in "The War on Terrorism" would bring.
